HATCHETITES OPPOSE MARYLAND SATURDAY

Journey to College Park to Open Season for Old Line Team

DEFEATED BY CITY CLUB

Play Baltimore Y. M. H. A. Tonight. Tuesday, January 19 Meet Crack Catholic University Five

Last Saturday night at the City Club, of this city, the George Washington basketball team suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of the clever representatives of the Club. The final count ended 3 to 7 in favor of the Clubmen, but the redeeming feature of the contest was the Hatchettes' plucky fight in the face of overwhelming odds.

The floor was new and strange and the local boys were unable to get their sea-legs on the canvas which was put down on the floor. Just before game time the disconcerting news reached Coach Daily and the team that Captain Gude Gosnell, Pat Roll, and Hercules Sawyer had been ruled ineligible for academic reasons. This was sufficient to take the heart out of any team, but the makeshift team gave its very best. Reds Woerner and Klopsch put up the best basketball for G. W., while the shooting of Charlie Boetler, a former George Washington captain was a sensation for the City Club.

Tuesday night the Buff and Blue squad travel to Baltimore to play the Y. M. H. A. team of that city. Little is known of the strength of the Monumental City boys, but it is certain that the locals are going to put forth their best efforts to wipe their slate clean of the City Club defeat.

Hatchette Lineup Uncertain.

The following Saturday evening the team travels out to College Park to play the University of Maryland's newly formed quint. This is Maryland's first year in the court game, but the team which will represent the College Parkers will be in no way green, since it is composed for the most part of ex-Washington high school boys. Zuke Supplee was a star center at Tech High, playing on a championship team. Gene Brayton also played for Tech. Myers a guard, and Faber a crack forward were Eastern High School stars, while Zakzak played for Central.

The Hatchette lineup for both of these contests is very uncertain, but it is probable that Klopsch, Woerner, Wagner, Randolph, Brown, Dows, Hyde, Reynolds, and Neviser will all see service along with several others who will likely make the trip. It is probable that those who were declared ineligible will be able to make up their work so as to play in the games in the second semester.

Tuesday night Catholic University's crack quint comes down to the Coliseum to play the local five. C. U. has a veteran team of great strength although recently beaten by Loyola. Eberts and Breslin are the C. U. forwards, while the veterans Lynch and Lawlor perform in the back court. Fitzgerald is the Brooklander's pivot man. Lynch and Lawlor form two of the smoothest working guards in this locality and the C. U. offense is built about this pair. The Hatchettes hope to have them both under cover.

LAW SCHOOL RETAINS MEMBERSHIP IN ASSO.

Given "B" Rating, Which Will Be Changed to "A" in September, 1925—Six G. W. Delegates

The George Washington University Law School is now rated as a class "B" law school by both the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools.

When the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association held its last meeting in Chicago on December 28, the new requirement that part-time students must complete eighty semester hours of work to receive the degree of LL. B. was submitted to them, and was unanimously approved, which approval entitles the Law School to a class "B" rating. In 1925, when the requirement of two years of academic work for admission goes into effect, the Law School will be rated as a class "A" school.

Six delegates from the George Washington Law School attended the meeting of the Association of American Law Schools, held in Chicago on December 27, 28, and 29. The members of the faculty who went were Acting Dean William C. Van Vleck, H. W. Edgerton, C. M. Updegraff, A. E. Evans, E. C. Arnold, and W. P. McCoy. On Wednesday, December 26, the executive committee of the association met and approved our curriculum for part-time students, which was also unanimously approved by the whole convention the next day.

The Law School still continues its membership in the Association of American Law Schools with full equality with the other law schools of the country.

TEN MEN CHOSEN FOR PLACES ON DEBATE TEAM

Prof. C. S. Collier Will Coach Team; Updegraff, Hall, and Kayser Select Men

Ten men were chosen to make up the George Washington University intercollegiate debating squad as a result of the try-outs held December 19, 8 p. m., in the Law School, as follows: H. M. Barnes, G. O. Basham, Francis C. Dart, Harry S. Goldstein, Joseph Levenson, Robert A. Nixon, Karl G. Pearson, Frank Smith, Henry Temin, and Oscar Zabel.

The subject on which the men prepared five-minute speeches was, "Resolved, that the courts be deprived of the power to declare Federal and State statutes unconstitutional." The judges were C. M. Updegraff and G. L. Hall, of the Law School faculty, and Elmer Louis Kayser, of the Arts and Sciences Department. Sixteen candidates tried out for the team.

The coach of the team, Professor C. S. Collier, will meet the squad later, at which time preparations will be begun for the intercollegiate struggles which will probably be with Swathmore, Penn State, Pittsburgh, University of Maryland, John Hopkins University, and North Carolina University.

Try-outs for the selection of an affirmative and a negative team and alternates will be held from the squad, Monday, January 7, 8 p. m., at the Law School.

PRESENT DESK TO PRESIDENT W. M. LEWIS

William Mather Lewis, President of the University, was the recipient of a beautiful Christmas gift presented to him by the Managers Conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The gift was a beautiful flat-top walnut office desk, and is a constant reminder of the esteem of those who were intimately associated with Mr. Lewis before he became President of George Washington.

Elliott H. Goodwin, a member of the Managers Conference and one of the men instrumental in presenting President Lewis with this desk, is resident vice president of the Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of the Board of Trustees of the University and chairman of the Special Gifts Committee of the Endowment Campaign.

STUDENTS TO OPEN ENDOWMENT DRIVE

January 14 to 19 Set Aside for University Campaign

$250,000 STUDENT GOAL

Henry James, Chairman, Completes Gigantic Organization of Teams and Committees

George Washington University students will open the nation-wide Endowment Campaign for a million dollars on January 14th. The week of January 14th to January 19th has been set aside in which time the college is expected to raise its quota of the entire amount.

In selecting the students of the University to start the campaign the National Committee requested that they be given complete control of the matter in the University. Upon this request the Student Council, at an early meeting of its body, took steps to appoint a committee to control the campaign, and under their direction it has been planned that every student registered will be personally visited in order to raise the amount promised.

Henry H. James was chosen by the council as chairman with Edward Scheufler and Leslie French as council representatives on the committee. Sarah French Smith, secretary to the committee, and G. Wilfrid Pryor were later appointed as students at large to work with the governing body.

This body of five students have set the point of perfection for the students at $250,000, each separate college having a sum certain to raise.

An extensive campaign will be conducted among the different organizations of the college and awards will be made to the one subscribing the greatest amount per active member, while an individual award will be given the person turning in the largest amount of subscriptions. Through this method it is hoped to have the different organizations appoint their own committee to assist the governing body.

It is planned to have speakers in every class room on the opening day of the campaign, and to establish headquarters in a room in every college where the students can turn in their pledges or receive any information that they may desire.

The governing body has appointed a chairman from the different colleges who will conduct the campaign there. A gigantic committee, composed of several hundred students, has also been organized and they will personally visit their friends and students in the University.

Chairmen of the different colleges that were appointed were: Hugo Kemmen, Law: W. C. Allard, Jr., Engineering: W. W. Woodward, Marion Barker, and Dutch Clements, Columbian College; Mary Bixler, Teachers; and Leslie French, Medical College.

MIMES' PLAYERS MAKE BIG HIT WITH AUDIENCE

The Mimes, dramatic organization of George Washington University, presented three one-act plays Thursday, December 20th, in the Chapel, to a large and enthusiastic audience of professors, dramatic critics, and friends.

"Waterloo," written and directed by Leonard Hall, dramatic critic of the Washington News, was very successfully acted by Alpha Booth, as Mabel, and W. C. Allard, Jr., as Tom.

"Two on a Park Bench," was written by Professor W. M. Morse while he was studying under George Pierce Baker at Harvard University. The play was presented for the first time by the Mimes' actors, under the direction of its author. The cast included Leon E. A. Chagon, as Arthur Williams; John R. Geiger, Eustace Kent; and Henry H. James, a New York Cop.

The third presentation, "Another Way Out," was a modern play, written by Lawrence Langner, and was very well played by Lonnelle Davison, as Marguerite Marshall; Bess Bartley, Mrs. Abby; Dorothy Bartley, Baroness de Mauville; G. Wilfrid Pryor, Pomeroy Pendleton; and J. Foster Hagen, the director, also acted in the part of Charles P. K. Fenton, an ambitious salesman of dictionaries, whose "code of ethics" controlled his love of beauty.

EL CIRCULO ESPANOL MEET

There will be a meeting of the El Circulo Espanol on Thursday night, January 10, 1924, at 2017 G Street. Grosvenor M. Jones will address the club on Latin-American countries.

13 more days until the mid-year examinations begin. Examination schedules have been posted.

G. W. BUILDING UNIT TO HAVE FOUR FLOORS

Will Be Opened in Autumn of '24; Modern Laboratories Included in Building Plans

Ground was broken December 17 for the first unit of the new university building which is to be built on 21st street.

This unit will have four stories and basement, 135x65 feet, a steel structure, concrete filled, of brick, and fire-proof throughout. The classroom and laboratories will be so arranged as to accommodate about 1,800 students. All possible modern conveniences for professors, and students alike are being planned.

The first unit is expected to be ready for occupancy when the university opens in the autumn of 1924. Under the present plan, the classes now being held in the church at 20th and G. will be moved into the university buildings, although whether they will have a place in the new unit is not known. The school of architecture will be helped in large measure by the removal of other classes from its building. While no definite arrangement of classes in the new unit has been made, it is fairly certain that the chemistry, physics, and possibly geology classes and laboratories will be located there. In any event, these classes will be given better facilities and more space. President William Mather Lewis, and H. C. McNeil, professor of Chemistry, recently visited the University of Virginia to inspect the chemistry and physics laboratories there.

The unit will be paid for by the money raised during the building campaign and from a fund already on hand. A great deal depends on the students in the coming endowment and building campaigns.

Eventually the Law School may be given a place in the new square of buildings.

OPEN SHOP WINS DEBATE; SOCIETY TO BANQUET

City Manager Plan of Government to Be Topic for Discussion Jan. 11.

The open shop was adjudged preferable to the closed shop in industry at the contest at the Columbian Debating Society, January 4. Restriction of output, a throttle hold on industry, discouragement to initiative, and lowering of working standards would result from the closed shop proved C. K. Pierstone and Karl G. Pearson, of the affirmative. The negative, Stanley Clark and Frank Smith, based their arguments around the point that the closed shop was the only means by which labor could hold, advance, and perpetuate her standards, and those of the public. Stanley Clark was awarded first honors, and Karl G. Pearson, second.

The question for debate, January 11, is. Resolved that we should have a city manager plan of government.

There will be no contests January 18 or January 25, the dates preceding and during examination week.

The organization was well represented in numbers on the varsity debating squad selected at the try-outs before the holidays.

The society banquet will be held early the next semester.

PROPOSE FAREWELL WEEK

Officers of Columbian College seniors have started tentative arrangements for a "farewell week" to be held in the early part of June. Besides the regular commencement events it is the intention to hold a senior prom.

It is expected that the senior classes of the other colleges will indorse and cooperate in this plan.

CALENDARS ARE PRAISED

Many favorable comments were received from the trustees and students on the attractiveness of the G. W. Calendar.

The calendar contained pictures of the different student activities and an architect's conception of the new buildings. It was bound in beautiful leather with the official seal of the University embossed on the cover.

A few remain and may be obtained at the office of the student director, 728 20th Street.

G. W. RIFLE TEAM WINS THREE MATCHES

Defeats Johns Hopkins, Boston U., and National Capital Rifle Club

MEETS COLUMBIA JAN. 12

Consistent Shooting By G. W. Men in First Three Contests Predicts Successful Year

Defeating Johns Hopkins, Boston University, and the National Capital Rifle Club, their first three matches of the year, the Hatchette Riflemen got off with a flying start on their schedule for the season.

In the Johns Hopkins match, shot during the week ending December 15, the score of 866 x 1000, as reported by telegraph, has been verified by examination of their targets. The final results are given below:

Johns Hopkins University:
F. Eugene Williams.....	183
John Tasche, Jr.....	175
F. H. Steck.....	172
H. E. Wilgis.....	169
A. C. Michael.....	167
	866

George Washington University:
W. R. Stokes, (captain).....	194
Eric M. Newcomb.....	192
J. M. Barry.....	192
George Anadale.....	191
Gerald Trimble.....	189
	958

The scores of the other G. W. men whose scores did not count because they were not among the five highest, were as follows: Baxter Smith, 187; Hugh Everett, Jr., 186; Frank Parsons, Jr., 183; H. C. Espey, 181; and Wm. S. Detwiler, 177.

Boston University took part in a dual telegraphic match against G. W. during the week ending December 22. The conditions called for the firing of ten shots in the prone position, five highest scores to count, and allowed any sights. The varsity men used telescopic sights.

Boston University's score was 498, which was topped by that of G. W., of 509 x 500, a perfect score. The individual scores follows:

Boston University:
Bartley F. Gorman.....	100
E. F. Hall, Jr.....	100
E. W. Lapworth.....	100
V. P. Coyne.....	99
Donald H. White.....	99
	498

George Washington University:
W. R. Stokes, (captain).....	100
J. M. Barry.....	100
Hugh Everett, Jr.....	100
Eric Newcomb.....	100
Baxter Smith.....	100
	500

The scores of George Anadale and Gerald Trimble were certain 99's, and possibly on close scoring might have been counted as 100's. The scores of the other shooters were: H. C. Espey, 99; Frank Parson, Jr., 99; and Alvin McNish, 97.

The most notable and difficult of the three victories was that against the National Capital Rifle Club, of Washington, which the G. W. shooters won by a score of 915 x 1000 to 903. The work of the Hatchettes was exceptional. This match was fired during the Christmas holidays, on Thursday night, December 27.

The records of the participants in this match made it more than an ordinary one. The National Capital Club was represented by famous shots, such as Sergeant Morris Fisher, free rifle champion of the world; Lawrence Nuesslein, member of the United States International Rifle Team last year and world's champion off-hand shot and last Olympic small-bore champion; R. H. McGarity, national small-bore champion and an outstanding figure at the Camp Perry national matches last September; Ralph C. Stokes, high man in the 1920 DeWar Trophy International Small-Bore Match with Great Britain; and Stacy Middleton, once champion rifle shot of the local high schools.

The G. W. Team was captained by Walter R. Stokes, former free rifle champion of the world and already picked as a member of the United States team in the coming Olympics. Eric Newcomb was captain of the Cornell University Rifle Team last year. The other G. W. shooters have all been rifle letter men for several years past.

The match consisted of twenty shots in the standing position at 75 feet, the five highest scores of both outfits

COOPERATION OF STUDENTS USING LIBRARY IS URGED

Unusual Rush Preceding Mid-year Examination Causes Necessity for Observance of Rules.

With less than two weeks until the mid-year examinations and the growing custom of certain profs to give what is commonly called home examinations, the University library is doing a rushing business.

In order to give the best services possible the student's cooperation is asked in observing the following rules:

1. Books, pamphlets, and periodicals not reserved for reference may be withdrawn by students, faculty, and alumni of the University for a period of one week. They may be renewed, except when there is a special demand for them.

2. All books, pamphlets, and periodicals shall be recorded and signed for on charge slips at the librarian's desk before they are taken from the library.

3. Books assigned for reference or for supplementary reading in any course shall be reserved and shall not be taken from the library.

4. Books used in the library shall be returned to the librarian's desk.

5. Books withdrawn from the library shall, upon their return, be brought to the librarian's desk to be discharged.

Makes Personal Appeal.

In order that students and faculty may be able to study undisturbedly and advantageously in our reading room, and the library function as a University library should, I respectfully appeal for sympathetic cooperation in the observance of the following rules and regulations:

1. That no one enter the library except to study or to draw or return books.

2. That entrance and departure be effected in as quiet a manner as possible.

3. That there be no visiting nor conversation.

4. That no coats, hats, umbrellas, nor packages of any kind be left in the library.

5. That no brief cases, newspapers, nor trash be left on the library desks, nor anything which would hinder the use of the desk.

6. That no candy, magazines, nor tickets be sold, nor any other business connected with student activities, be conducted in the library.

7. That the assistant librarians enforce the above rules and that all violations be reported to the librarian or the Dean.

ALFRED F. W. SCHMIDT,
Librarian.

TRY-OUTS FOR GIRLS

It is desired that as many girls from the Arts and Science School as possible take part in the try-outs for the Girls' Debating Team to be held January 10. It is falsely held that Law School students have the advantage in these competitions. This is amply refuted in that Mildred Wilgus as well as other from Arts and Science has made the team the last two years.

The squad should be representative of all of George Washington University, and hence the call goes out for girls in all department to engage in the contest.

PRESIDENT LEWIS SPEAKS

President Lewis of George Washington University will speak to the Women's Club, of Bethesda, Tuesday afternoon, January 8th; and at the Church of the Covenant on Tuesday evening, Thursday, January 10th, he will address the meeting of the Board of Trade of Washington.

Friday, President Lewis will leave for Dedham, Mass., where he will address the Community Association.

ALUMNI NOTES

The Alumni Notes this week come from all sections of the country—from Vermont to Texas and Florida, and from New York to California and beyond, even as far as the Philippine Islands, with many of the intervening states. It is interesting to know that the influence of George Washington University thus extends to the uttermost parts of the earth.

Henry S. Goodall, 1890, is now a successful physician in Bennington, Vermont.

Matthew Cowley, Law, '24, Assistant Secretary to Senator Smoot, has been quite a traveler. His home is in Salt Lake City, but he spent some years in New Zealand, not long since.

George Bruce Cortelyou, Law 1895-1896, Secretary to President Roosevelt, and later holding three successive offices in the Cabinet—as Secretary of Commerce and Labor; Postmaster General, and Secretary of the Treasury—is now President of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York City.

From Athens, Georgia, comes news of Ralph Montgomery Goss, Medical, '06, who is physician and surgeon there.

Mrs. William H. Herron (Lily Young, 1892), who gives her occupation as "Housewife" finds time for plenty of other activities. She has recently completed a most successful term as President of the Twentieth Century Club, one of the largest and most influential organizations of women in Washington.

Edgerton Chester Garvin, 1907, holds a unique and responsible position—that of City Manager of Fernandina, Florida.

Edward Francis Colladay, Law 1899, is proving a most efficient as well as popular President of the Washington Board of Trade.

George Wetmore Colles, Post-Grad, 1900, is City Engineer of Brenham, Texas.

Eunice Katherine Crabtree, 1923, is teaching English in Teachers' College in Mankato, Minnesota.

Jose E. Crespo Ramos, Med., 1920, is practicing medicine in Utuado, Porto Rico.

Another far-away physician is Adriano Talbos Cruz, 1911, who is President of Sanitary Divisions Philippine Health Service, and Medical Inspector of the Philippine Constabulary, at Dagupan, Pangasinan, Philippine Islands.

Paul Henderson Cromelin, LL. B., 1891, LL. M., 1892, is President of the Inter-Ocean Film Corporation, and also of the Cromlow Film Laboratories, Inc., of New York.

Films naturally lead our thoughts to Hollywood, California, where we find Harold B. Cutler, 1908, lawyer by training, but banker by choice.

Allan F. Dailey, 1923, is also in Hollywood, practicing law.

Robert Stuart Coleman, 1888, holds the responsible position of Chief Examiner of United States Naturalization Service, in St. Paul, Minn.

Alfred E. Cordon, Law, 1913, who was Prosecuting Attorney of Jefferson County, Idaho, from 1913 to 1920, is now practicing in Rigby, Idaho.

Elizabeth Cullen, '18, has a most interesting position in the Bureau of Railway Economics, and finds time to be Chairman—and a most efficient one too!—of the Membership Drive Committee of the Columbian Women.

Emile Lester Cottrell, Med. 1901, is Superintendent and Surgeon of Scotia Hospital, Scotia, California, and a member of the Pacific Coast Association of Railroad Surgeons.

Mrs. William E. Chamberlin (Grace Ross, 1897), moving spirit in many local and national organizations, is President of the Women's City Club of Washington.

Printer, journalist, diplomat, inventor, statesman, philosopher, wit. One of the authors of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, author of Poor Richard's Almanack; and one of the most eminent natural philosophers of his time.

But nobody had thought to do it

By bringing electricity down from the clouds over a kite string, it was a simple thing to prove that lightning was nothing more than a tremendous electrical flash.

For centuries before Franklin flew his kite in 1751 philosophers had been speculating about the nature of lightning. With electrified globes and charged bottles, others had evolved the theory that the puny sparks of the laboratory and the stupendous phenomenon of the heavens were related; but Franklin substituted fact for theory — by scientific experiment.

Roaring electrical discharges, man-made lightning as deadly as that from the clouds, are now produced by scientists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company. They are part of experiments which are making it possible to use the power of mountain torrents farther and farther from the great industrial centers.

Electrical machines bearing the mark of the General Electric Company, in use throughout the world, are raising standards of living by doing the work of millions of men.

BUFF AND BLUE GIRLS WIN FIRST GAME, 31-15

Team Plays Well in Taking Contest
From Wilson Normal Sextet—
Forwards Get Difficult Shots

Co-ed basketball players of George Washington University started the season with a win over the Wilson Normal School sextet, 21-15. The contest was played at the City Club, Saturday, January 15.

The Normal girls crashed the netting for first score but before the period was up the Buff and Blue had taken the lead, 13 to 11, never to be headed during the remainder of the game.

The work of Robison and Ewers at forward featured, while Young consistently outjumped her opponent and the guarding of Bee Woodford kept the Normal score down.

Favorable comment was made on the natty uniform of the University team.

WOMEN'S LEGAL CLUB ENTERTAINS AT TEA

The faculty and women students of the Law School were guests at a tea of the Women's Legal Club, served Sunday afternoon, December 16th, at the home of May Bigelow, the Farnsboro Apartments.

Mrs. William V. Van Vleet and Mrs. C. M. Updegraff assisted in the serving. Mrs. Updegraff and Catherine Thompson sang, and Hester Bell recited.

Handicap of 70 Aids in Giving Winner Aggregate Score of 57

"SMOKY" GRIGGS SECOND

"President's Own" Bryan Morse
Makes Course in 88, Using the Least Number of Strokes.

Hail the conquering hero! William Northrup Morse, known affectionately to his cronies as "Baldy," was hailed as winner of the Dubville golf handicap, which was held during the Christmas holidays. There are those among the professors who shout fraud, but the fact remains that W. M. won the turkey which was offered to the winner of the tournament in which such stars as Bobby Bolwell, Hank Smith, and "Bill" Lewis were entered.

Somebody made the sad mistake of handing sweet William a handicap of 70 strokes. Whereupon he shot 127 for a score of 57, easily taking down the red ribbons. Hence the cries of coercion and fraud. Our profs declare that the winner shot entirely too well for his handicap.

The contestant taking the lowest number of actual strokes was the "President's Own" Bryan Morse who poled out an 88 which with his handicap of ten gave him 78. Col. Croissant had the doubtful distinction of taking the largest amount of strokes, with 166. It is reported that his caddy carried an adding machine. Only the iron clad rules of the association kept the contestants from actual blows, but again let's hail the new hero of the links—the faculty golliwump W. H. Morse.

The real colliwump of the foursome, H. G. Doyle, better known as Zev, or in Memoriam was out of town attending a mass meeting for better links for professors and was unable to participate. He challenges everybody, however, catch as catch can; everything goes, pickups, carries or baseball bats.

The following is the summary of the tournament.

Player	Stks	H. C.	A. S.
W. N. Morse	127	70	57
Smoky Griggs	121	50	71
J. A. Jordan	103	30	73
Bobby Bolwell	100	26	74
W. W. West	155	80	75
P. O. Bryan Morse	88	10	78
W. M. Lewis	110	32	78
Hank Smith	161	80	81

G. W. RIFLE TEAM WINS THREE MATCHES

counting. Four of the high National Capital men used telescopic sights, but all of the varsity team used metallic sights. It was the first time the G. W. men have fired at 75 feet this season. The individual scores were as follows:

National Capital Rifle Club:
Lawrence Nuesslein	189
Stacy Middleton	183
Sergeant Morris Fisher	179
R. C. Stokes	179
R. H. McGarity	173
903
George Washington University:
W. R. Stokes (captain)	191
George Anadale	182
James M. Barry	181
Eric Newcomb	181
Gerald Trimble	180
915

On December 30, a match was fired between the State of California and the District of Columbia, and twelve G. W. men participated. Four of these made places on the team, made up of the ten highest scores. Their names and scores are:

J. M. Barry	197 x 200
W. R. Stokes	195
Gerald Trimble	195
Baxter Smith	194

The match consisted of twenty shots by each man at 100 yards out-of-doors with telescopic sights, and was fired at the National Guard Range at Congress Heights.

Columbia Dual Meet Jan. 12

The rifle team will meet Columbia University in a dual telegraphic gallery rifle match this week, ending Saturday, January 12. The conditions call for a four-position match—standing, kneeling, sitting, and prone—five shots in each position by ten men, five highest scores to count. The team totals will be telegraphed Saturday night.

UNIVERSITY ANNOUNCES PUBLIC LECTURE COURSE

Series Which Will Be on Popular Educational Subjects to Be Given Free

Complete arrangements have been made for a free public lecture course to be given during the winter months by George Washington University. The lectures will be given by members of the George Washington faculty in answer to a growing demand for this kind of educational work.

This lecture course is one phase of the work now being done by George Washington University to serve the city of Washington. They will be of a popular educational nature and will be interesting to everybody.

Dates and subjects for the following lectures have already been announced:

January 18—Adventures in Architecture (illustrated)—by Albert Kelsey, F. A. I. A., of Philadelphia. Mr. Kelsey designed the Pan-American Building, winning the $25,000 competition for the design. This lecture will be profusely illustrated with lantern slides.

February 5—The Wonders of the Deep—Professor Paul Bartsch, of George Washington University and the National Museum. Professor Bartsch has done remarkable work in undersea photography in the South Sea.

February 19—The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes—Professor Robert F. Griggs, of George Washington University. Professor Griggs headed the National Geographic Society's exploration expedition through the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes.

Following this series will be a course of lectures on the Drama, by members of the George Washington faculty:

March 6—Dramatic Origins—Assistant Professor R. W. Bolwell.

March 14—Shakespeare—Dean William Allen Wilbur.

March 28—The German Drama—Professor H. Schoenfeld.

April 3—The Spanish Drama—Professor Henry Grattan Doyle.

April 11—The English Drama—Professor D. C. Croissant.

These lectures will be held in the Cosmos Club hall, Madison Place and H Street. Admission will be by ticket.

The Chi Omega's had a big party at Wardman Christmas night, at which the engagement of Beatrice Henning to George Shaw was announced.

Some time ago we saw Gretchen Campbell with Don Little at Le Paradis; last week we saw them at Wardman, so we suppose that the next time we go to L'Aiglon they'll be there.

The engagement of Francis Foster to Bernard Roche of Charleston, W. Va., was announced on January 2, 1914, at a Pt Phi "Cooky-Shine" at the home of Ellen Littlepage.

Frances Davis entertained a Midshipman from the Naval Academy during the holidays.

New Year's Eve we made our start at the National, and looking down through our field glasses we managed to pick out from the crowd Gladys Hughes, Reds McLean, Daisy Robison, Gordon Edmunds, Virginia Liles, and a man we didn't know. Later some of them were seen at the La Fayette.

After walking through Peacock Alley at the Willard we had seen Sophia Waldeman with Arthur Verner, Abigail Lane with Francis Brown, Fats Myers, Claton Hixon, Sam Rogers, Charles Pledger, and Willard Hyde—just as we were leaving Catherine Shoemaker stepped out of the elevator—apparently coming from the expensive regions above.

Among the George Washington people at the Central High Reunion, December 26, were Louis Seibold, Mary Louise Limon, Gladys Hughes, Carol Meiggs, Eugene Thomas, and the Bell sisters.

Saw Bevo Miller and "Shorty" Wemple looking hungrily into Child's some thing after two New Year's morning.

Edna Kilpatrick spent several days in Richmond.

Douglas Beatie went down to Atlanta in a Ford and had a good time. Again we hear that southern girls are beautiful.

Margaret Bowie was here from the University of Wisconsin and made it a Merry Christmas for at least one man.

The K. A. convention was in session at the Washington Hotel during the holidays. Dorothy Haddox, Frances Davis, Graces Harris, Betty Booth, Jean Gravette, Virginia Rae, and Katherine Shoemaker were at their dance on December 28. We heard that it was "the most wonderful party!"

John Russell Mason went up to Philadelphia during the week.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVER-SITY LAW SCHOOL SENATE,
DECEMBER 11, 1923.

Whereas there has been brought to the attention of the Law School Senate a controversy which has arisen between the Junior Class of the Law School and the other Junior Classes of the University;

And, Whereas it appears from statements appearing in the University Hatchet of December 11, 1923, and attributed to the president of the Junior Class of the Law School, that the Junior Law Class has withdrawn from participation in the Junior Prom and has announced its intention of holding a Junior Prom and other Junior Week functions of its own;

And, Whereas the University is about to enter upon a campaign for endowment in which it is essential that there shall be the utmost harmony and cooperation among the various units making up the University constituency;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Law School Senate, in regular meeting assembled this 11th day of December, 1923, that we call upon the students involved in this controversy to meet together and compromise their differences, and that they work out plans whereby a single joint Junior Prom shall be held, and if unable to reach a satisfactory agreement, the Senate suggests that they submit their differences to a Committee on Arbitration to be appointed from the alumni by the Director of Student Activities or other person to be mutually agreed upon.

However, the Law School indorses the principle contended for by the Junior Class of the Law School, that the chairmanships of the Junior Week activities should be rotated between the various schools.

And be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the University, the Deans of the various colleges and schools of the University, the presidents of the various Junior Classes, and the Director of Student Activities, and that it be printed in the University Hatchet.

Following the decision of the vice-president of the Junior class of the Law School to pledge the support of the class in the Junior week activities, the Senate passed a resolution praising this action, which united the Junior classes of the University.

PHARMACY AND GRADS TO REMAIN UNREPRESENTED

That the Pharmacy and Graduate Colleges will not be represented on the Student Council until the election next spring was made known to that body at its last meeting by Lester Johnson, chairman of the election committee.

Repeated attempts by the old council and the present body to have those colleges turn in applications for representation on the student's governing body of the University have only met with failure.

No further attempt will be made to hold elections in Pharmacy and Graduate Colleges for this year, and such matters as will come before the council concerning them will be handled by the present organization.

ATTENDS HISTORICAL MEETING

Professor Elmer L. Kayser, secretary of George Washington University, attended the meeting of the American Historical Association, which met December 27 to 30 in Columbus, Ohio.
